

Office Disciplinary Referral Scenarios

1. Students were given time to work on their homework assignment during the last 20 minutes of their 4th block math class. Mr. Grey noticed that Meredith wasn't doing her math homework so he asked her what she was working on and she rudely replied, "I am working on the homework like you asked!" Mr. Grey gave Meredith a minute to start working on her homework and then walked over to her desk to check. He again noticed that Meredith was, in fact, not doing her Math homework, but was doing her English homework instead. Mr. Grey asked Meredith again to please take out her Math homework. At this point Meredith threw her English book on the floor making enough noise to get the attention of the entire class. She took her math homework out and as Mr. Grey walked away she murmured "I hate math, it f*!#ing sucks and YOU suck!" Mr. Grey then asked her to gather her things and go to the office. Meredith yelled "GOOD!" as she packed up her things and stormed out the door, slamming it on the way.
2. Derek is fooling around, flicking the ear of a friend who is sitting in the seat in front of him. Mr. Murphy points to an empty seat on the other side of the room and asks Derek to move to that seat. Derek does not get up and replies "But, I wasn't doing anything". Mr. Murphy again points to an empty seat on the other side of the room and asks Derek to move to that seat. As Derek gets up and appropriately moves to the identified seat Derek states "This is so Gay I didn't do anything" and sits down and returns to doing his work.
3. Mrs. Stevens has noticed that George often reads a novel not related to her course when the class is instructed to work independently. Today Mrs. Stevens attempted several times to get George to work on his assignment, but each time he politely acknowledged her request and said he would rather read his book and continued to read quietly.
4. Susan begins to hand out gum to other students in the class while they are doing the warm up activities and Mr. Jeffery is taking attendance. Mr. Jeffery reminds Susan and the rest of the class that he does not allow students to chew gum in his class and he asks her to stop handing it out and put it away. Susan apologizes and complies.
5. Ms. Rogers notices that Kathy is having difficulty focusing and keeping her head off the desk and when he is speaking with her she seems to have difficulty following the conversation and answering his simple questions. She also seems to be trying to avoid making eye contact.
